

General Runston said he had no desire to dictate to ministers what they should preach to army men, but he objected to revivals being held in the camp, and found particularly obnoxious any supposition that army men were to be special objects of evangelization.

"We have a fine lot of men equal to the better class of men in the country," he said, "and I do not believe they

A German submarine on Sept. 10 sank in the Mediterranean a completely filled hostile transport. The man to take eleven stitches in each wound. He will recover. The man is said to be insane.

month, closed its doors today.      and

...the number of cases now number 278, and deaths 27.

take a nation-wide campaign.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

The Janesville Gazette

New Bldg., 200-201 E. Milwaukee St.
 REPROD. AT THE POSTOFFICE AT JANESVILLE,
 WIS., AS SECOND CLASS MAIL MATTER.

BUSINESS OFFICE OPEN SATUR-DAY EVENING.

Members of Associated Press.
 Member of Audit Bureau of Circulations.
 Member of Wisconsin Daily League.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Unsettled and cooler tonight.
 Probably show-
 ers. Saturday fair
 and cool. Probably frost.

WATER PLUGS, ETC.

Why, when the city was painting its new lighting poles, was not the work extended to giving the water plugs of the city a new coat of paint as well? They look pretty rusty, and a municipal owned concern and it belonging to a private corporation there would be a hue and cry about them. It is also noted that the removal of the poles carrying the fire alarm system wires are also to remain above ground until Milwaukee street is repaved, or rather, the bricks are turned to be exact, some time in the dim distant future.

Great stress was laid on the removal of all poles from the streets, but some way or other quite a few remain and appear immune from all attempts. It was with much effort it was announced that the down town streets would be free from obstruction as soon as the stagger lights were put in. By the way, does anyone know exactly whether the city is obtaining the amount of light first installed or not? The lights have been changed so often that they now look rather dimmer than when first installed.

Thus far there seems to be no more obedience to the traffic laws than in the past, and pedestrians scurry across the streets, signal wildly for street cars and make a dash to a place of safety, while autos and bicycles whirl past, heedless of the presence of young girls and boys driving cars appear the worst offenders although recently it was noted a county official's car violated the law flagrantly. When some one is killed it will be stopped, evidently not before.

CONCILIATING LABOR.

Such a line is revealed in the New York traction strike is very ominous. Even if congress passes legislation controlling strikes on public utilities, that leaves untouched the greater question of class hostility.

The laboring man imagines that the capitalist is living a life of soft luxury. On the contrary, the capitalist is often hard to awake nights worrying about the perplexities and responsibilities of a great business.

Meanwhile the capitalist imagines that the laboring man is living a life of simple comfort. He does not realize what a struggle it is to maintain decent and wholesome conditions for a family under the present cost of living.

There will be bitterness and costly arguments as long as each side shows failure of comprehension. The capitalist must manifest personal interest in his men. He will find it pays, in self-respect, enjoyment of life, and in dollars and cents. Let him visit his work men in their homes, and see how they live. Let them provide beautiful working conditions, if he has a prosperous year, let his employees share by some form of a bonus.

On the other hand, there are too many employees who think capital can be expected to work for the pay a day laborer. Let them reflect that capital is a machine, and increasing the cost of living. Substitution of government bureaus and politicians for personal energy and initiative would reduce production by one-half. Private ownership of industrial plants promotes energy, enterprise and development of resources. It is a paying proposition for every man to have a hand in the work, and the necessities of life. The capitalist should remember, however, the beauty of the proverb that "Enough is as good as a feast."

Strikes are never won by brickbats. A great many of them are prevented by handclaps.

ONE RESULT.

One of the results of the enactment of the eight hour law feared by capitalists is that in the future investments will be made outside the United States to develop other countries rather than at home, owing to loss of federal protection and fear of the power of the unions to enforce unusual and unjust demands by congressional enactment. The Wall Street Journal takes the subject up under the caption "Unions and Investors," and deals with it in the following manner:

"What next? Will the unions continue to press fresh demands at each political crisis? Shall we come to the eight hour day with Saturday a half day, a six hour day, a demand that only those who recognize unions may ship their wares on the railroads, barked always by the threat of a national strike? These are questions for the public to meet."

"For the investor there is a partial solution, and one which even now can be seen in its commencement—he can send his funds abroad. The recent foreign loans have already shown the way. After the war Europe will be clamoring for capital, and when the needs of the middle countries are satisfied Russia alone has a capacity for an unlimited supply. The American investor cannot hope to receive aid from the national government—she supports given Mr. Wilson's—his Mexican policy has shown the dislike of the rank and file of our citizens for anything savoring of national brawling. The owner of foreign invested capital. Take those funds where he is protected either by the need for his money or a strong and far-sighted administration."

"This consideration alone removes all South America from the scope of any but the very strongest of our investors, especially as South America will be the commercial prize of the world at the end of the war. Europe will be closed to German manufacturers and all the colonies of the allied powers as well, so that Germany must concentrate her efforts on the western hemisphere."

"To the north of us, however, is an empire in the making, rich in every necessity of civilized life—save capital. Heretofore Canada has supplied her financial wants from the surplus funds of England. Willy-nilly, the Dominion must turn to us for money and credit. Familiar laws, language, business and financial practice, personal acquaintance—all the things that make for confidence and easy intercourse are at hand, together with an urgent need for capital, just at the moment when the brotherhoods threaten every dollar of invested wealth and every cent of deposited savings in the United States. Russia is strange and far away; South America may be closed when the war ends; in Canada the fields are ripe for the reaper."

Someone queries what has become of the old time grocery parliament that used to gather nightly to discuss the doings at Washington. Well, the last heard from it was that the boys are sitting around trying to figure out who will win the world's series ball games.

The modern theory of community progress is to persuade the government to erect a postoffice building five times as costly as the business requires.

The present day idea of a statesman is a man who can make both railroad corporations and labor unions believe he is going to favor their side in the pending controversies.

The popular idea of doing reverence to Lincoln's memory is to visit his birthplace and evade the guards while backing off a souvenir from the building.

There is complaint from some of the soldiers on the border that they have to sleep in mud, when they should have reflected how much softer mud is than hard earth.

The politicians can find out what their unalterable convictions are when they see what the audiences applaud.

The spoilsbinder continues to tell funny stories, when what the people want to hear is how they propose to stop starvation and business prostration resulting from labor disputes.

Many voters waited until they heard the returns from Maine before deciding which party it is their solemn duty to support.

The fact that a man can work every day, rain or shine, in order to avoid losing a dollar, does not prove that he can vote on a stormy election day to save his country.

That little chunk of bread is not one of mother's good old muffins, but merely all the loaf you will get on present prices of flour.

Not satisfied with having the worst infantile paralysis epidemic New York is getting ready to prove its greatness by having the biggest traction strike.

The Daily Novelette

NO EXCEPTION.

The husband of the suffragette
 Lacks sympathy with her, and yet
 Can't taunt her with, ah! vain regrets.

The vetes that mother used to get.

(Synopsis of preceding chapters:
 Archie Hangerover, when the slump due to the feminist movement causes his father's false switch factory to close, is forced to earn his own living. But every field he essays, from pickle polishing to battleship building, is overrun by women, and young Hangerover is filled with bitterness for the knowledge that these new women are the cause of his having to leave a life of luxury, refuses to labor where they would be his help-mates. Finally, in desperation, he leaves the country, determined to find a womanless occupation and an occupationless woman if it takes him to the end of the world. After many adventures in many climes, he comes down as a good tree taper in the heart of Africa. One warm day he rescues a beautiful white girl from cannibals. She appears to be the ideal mate for him, and as he draws her to safety he exults that at last he has found a girl without a job, since he himself was the only human being in the district who worked for a living.)

"Great gravy!" she cried, her glorious eyes alight. "Won't I be able to write a dandy book about that expedition! It ought to sell into a dozen editions!"

With a yell of despair, Archie seized her hair and dragged her back to the cannibals.

MRS. KATHRYN STANTON SELLS AMERICAN GUN TO BRITISH

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
 New York, Sept. 22.—Mrs. Kathryn M. Stanton, aglow with the triumph of selling to the British government the centrifugal gun, for which she stood sponsor, has just returned to New York.

The new weapon which she sold Great Britain is operated without powder and is noiseless as well as smokeless. It hurls missiles with incendiary effect, the missiles may be anything from an egg to a lump of dynamite. There is no barrel to the gun and it may be operated by an untrained man or woman. It is so simple in construction and all of its parts can be made at any machine shop with a cost of less than one-tenth of the price of a weapon using explosives. Mrs. Stanton financed the building of the model and personally superintended the making of the gun. The weapon was tried out at Sandy Hook and the officers estimated its value as the weapon of future warfare. The United States did not care to purchase the invention, so Mrs. Stanton sold to Great Britain. This is the second in a series of inventions that she was turned down by the United States and later accepted by Great Britain.

While Mrs. Stanton was abroad her husband died, unknown to her. The news of his death was expected to convey to him were hushed on her lips when her sister broke the sad news to her.

Watch the want ads. for bargains of all kinds.

ASTHMA SUFFERER

Write today, I will tell you, free of charge, of a simple home treatment for asthma, which cured me after years of failure and change of climate failed. I am so grateful for my present good health, after years of suffering, that I want everyone to know of this wonderful treatment. Mrs. Nellie Evans, Box 555, A-6, Des Moines, Iowa.—Adv.

GILDED LADS BARRED AT LELAND STANFORD

Pacific Coast University Does Not Cater to Poor But Nevertheless Finds Them Best Students.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
 Palo Alto, Calif., Sept. 22.—Wealth is a handicap to the college student according to Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Leland Stanford University, in a statement today. "As a consequence of this belief," he declared, "that beginning this year autos may not be owned by students; that too frequent dances, the purchase of expensive flowers or coats and similar luxuries will be banned."

Dr. Wilbur is so convinced he is right about this that he has sent a circular letter to the college parents, saying that students with too much money are not desired at the school. If they are inclined to spend their time in the pursuit of pleasure, the letter urges parents to refrain from sending them that year is limited, those students who fail to show they are doing honest work will not be permitted to continue.

Stanford does not particularly seek poor boys and discourage the entrance of the wealthy, Dr. Wilbur explains, but experience has shown that the poor boy does, on the whole, make a better record, both as a student and afterwards. His appeal, Dr. Wilbur says, is an endeavor to save the wealthy lad from his own particular dangers.

It takes time to run an automobile and it often leads to life off the campus, to extravagance and much foolishness. It is plenty to do in the way of variety right at the university, with its swimming pools, athletic fields, gymnasiums, beautiful walks and like. There is no need to go to San Francisco more than once or twice a semester and this trip can be conveniently and cheaply made by train. There is no need to supply money for orchids, for dance parties or for luxuries.

The student who cannot be content to lead the clean, simple, industrious life expected on the Stanford campus should go elsewhere. If you do not feel that it expresses the right attitude toward alcohol, hazing, self-control, payment of debts and things of that sort, you would be better to keep that son or daughter at home, or send them elsewhere. It will save them the trouble that is almost sure to come sometime in life. The University course time to develop those who have the disposition to conform."

TEMPERANCE UNION IN STATE MEETING

Three Hundred Women, Workers in Temperance Cause, Attend Convention at Madison.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
 Madison, Wis., Sept. 22.—Upwards of three hundred women were in attendance today at the opening of the forty-third annual convention of the Wisconsin Women's Temperance Union. The meetings will continue until Tuesday, Sept. 27. The sessions are held in the First Congregational church. The sessions will open this afternoon with an address by the president, Mrs. W. A. Lawson of Milwaukee. Today's meeting will be given over almost entirely to business. Tonight there will be a banquet for the members and their friends at the Congregational church. On Monday the Madison Commercial club will give the visitors an automobile ride through the Madison parks and around the city and university grounds. Two speakers who are well known in temperance work will give the opening of the chief features of the convention are Mrs. Lula Loveland Shepard, state president of the Utah union, and Mrs. Ella A. Boole of Brooklyn. Other speakers who will play prominent parts are: Mrs. W. A. Lawson, president, Milwaukee; Mrs. Annie W. Warren of Stoughton; Mrs. Elizabeth Folger of Marshfield; Miss Ida M. Hutchins of Waupaca; and Miss Ida M. Cook, Green Bay. The state organization has a total paid-up membership of 873, according to the report to the convention today.

On Saturday the meeting will be opened by Mrs. Mary T. Bartlett of Eau Claire. There will be reports and receptions to new members during the day.

Watch the want ads. for bargains of all kinds.

MAYR'S WONDERFUL REMEDY FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

ONE DOSE WILL CONVINCE

Gastric Stomach, Cancer and Ulcers of the Stomach, Indigestion, Auto-Intoxication, Mellow Jaundice, Appendicitis and other fatal ailments result from Stomach Trouble. Thousands of Stomach Sufferers owe their complete recovery to Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. Unlikely as it may seem, it is the only other for Stomach Ailments. For sale by J. P. Baker.

Saturday Specials at COLVIN'S

BUTTER BISCUIT.
 DANISH BUNS.
 MARSHMALLOW CREAM ROLLS, 40c doz.
 APPLE TURNOVERS, 30c doz.
 RAISED FRIED CAKES, 15c a doz.

JELLY BALLS, 20c doz.
 TWIN ROLLS, 12c doz.
 CARMEL ROLLS, 15c doz.
 DAISY SPLIT LOAF, BEST bread made in Janesville.

Deliveries made to all parts of the city. Phone your orders early.

Colvin's Baking Co.

Sunlit Bakery on the Hill.
 Visitors Welcome.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM OF HUGHES' CROWDS SCARES WILSON MEN

Hughes' Bold Stand and Searching Analysis of Democratic Administration Gratifying to Republicans.

New York, Sept. 22.—Hughes' Bold Stand: Gov. Hughes has gone after the Wilson administration with sledge-hammer blows, according to reports from the middle west, where he is now campaigning, and his audience has exhibited responsiveness and enthusiasm highly gratifying to the republican managers. Taking as his text Mr. Wilson's statement of last week, "Our form is not more than a mere device," Mr. Hughes has shown that most of the democratic platform pledges have been broken, including those regarding economy in government, the creation of useless offices, the lowering of the cost of living, the repeal of the Panama Canal toll law, the single presidential term, the protection of American citizens abroad, etc. Referring to the Adamson wage increase law, Mr. Hughes has said, "It was nothing more than a measure to fix wages and as a measure to fix wages it must be judged. If as such a measure it was justified, it needs no further excuse. We are not concerned with anything that was said of the indignity of society with respect to an eight hour work day. There is plainly no judgment of society on the increase of wages this bill requires. The phrase 'eight hour day' is apparently used to frighten the public ear in order to establish something quite different." And again, "The Adamson bill is a force bill. It was legislation without inquiry, without knowledge, without respect for the administration for such legislation as the price of peace was a humiliating spectacle. It was not only a serious misuse of official authority, but a deplorable abdication of moral authority."

Wilson Solely Responsible: One phase of the railway wage affair which has not been generally appreciated by the public is that it was Mr. Wilson himself solely responsible for the crisis which led him to direct Congress to pass the Adamson bill. For years there has been in existence a few Board of Mediation and Conciliation. It has gained the respect of both employees and employers and has never experienced but one failure in its history. By its own action, however, it has been a wholly independent body, never interfered with by any cabinet officer or any president, prior to Mr. Wilson. From the beginning of the serious railway controversy Mr. Wilson's every step was calculated to insure a failure of the efforts of this body. Daily announcements from the White House declared that Mr. Wilson was watching the controversy with keenest interest. When employees were unable to reach an agreement, Mr. Wilson announced that he had "directed" the board, over which under the law, he had no authority, to proceed to New York, thus reducing it to the position of a subordinate body, and in doing so, he was using a higher authority, and when the efforts of the board did not meet with success, he announced from the White House that if it did not meet with success he himself would take the matter in hand, thus insuring its failure. The Brotherhoods, naturally and wisely, preferring the mediation of a president who was actively seeking his own re-election, and on the eve of a campaign, would not there after let the board settle the strike along lines of strict justice and impartiality. And no one can blame them for preferring to trust their cause to Mr. Wilson.

Wilson Betrayed Arbitration: The law creating the Board of Mediation provides that if arbitration fails the board shall devote all its energies to bringing about arbitration. Mr. Wilson promptly ignored this law, violating it in spirit. He ordered the case to be ordered the railways to abandon hope of arbitration. He further said that the eight hour day as a wage basis had the sanction of the judgment of society. Once the president of the United States had made such a declaration, the Brotherhood leaders could not accept less. They told congress that very thing and said that if he accepted, less they would be branded as "traitors" by their fellow workmen. Of course, arbitration would not have given Mr. Wilson that labor vote which he hoped to gain by advocating the eight-hour basis, any more than would have a settlement by the legally constituted board of mediation. It will be found that Mr. Wilson's determination to butt into the situation made of it an instrument to promote his own political fortunes, and the sole cause of the acute stage of the controversy and the Adamson wage-increase law.

Progressives In Line: If any further demonstration that the progressives have returned to the republican party were needed it was furnished by the New York primary election, in which Gov. Whitman was overwhelmingly nominated and those progressives who have been widely advertised as supporting President Wilson, including Cambridge Colby, went down to ignominious defeat. These demagogues had named Judge Seabury, the progressive primary candidate against Gov. Whitman. Out of a total progressive enrollment of 46,200, only 3,806 progressive votes were cast in Judge Seabury. The progressive party in this state had received every possible aid from the democratic managers who fully appreciated the political value to them of a strong showing of progressive disaffection against Eugene T. McCarthy. The only result of those progressives who are off the reservation went down in a smashing defeat.

Wilson Worried: The extreme complacency of President Wilson, who hitherto has been absolutely confident of his own reelection, has given place to serious anxiety, according to the correspondents with Mr. Wilson at his summer home, at Long Branch, N. J. Wilson has been advertised as up to an eye with himself and as he is not an agreeable recipient of unpleasant news, his advisers have carefully refrained from telling him that the popular view of himself and his administration. The Maine election, therefore, proved an eye-opener to him. He had accepted the assurances of Josephus Daniels and his friend Sam McLean that never would democratic senators, a governor and four members of the house. Now that Mr. Wilson realizes beyond all possibility of doubt that republicans have been elected to all these offices, and that the most painstaking scrutiny of the Maine vote reveals nothing but a strong indication of his own defeat in November, he is both worried and irritable and summonses to come to Long Branch are by no means welcomed by the democratic managers.

Nebraska All Right: The republican campaign managers are mystified by reports which apparently have no parallel in the effect that republican prospects in Nebraska are not bright. Their private reports from that state indicate most satisfactory conditions with brilliant prospects, not only of carrying the electoral vote for Hughes, but of defeating Hitchcock, who is running for re-election as senator. Senator Hitchcock has lined up with the republican prospect, and is not only carrying the electoral vote for Hughes, but of defeating Hitchcock, candidate of the "vets," despite Mr. Bryan's well known opposition to anything wet, other than grape-juice. It is also reported that Mr. Hughes' stand on the Adamson wage-increase law has the approval of all the farmers of the state.

Marquette, Wis., Sept. 22.—Through-out upper Wisconsin the commercial potato warehouses are being opened with the coming of the digging season. While there is a considerable falling off in the upper Wisconsin potato yield in comparison to a normal crop, it is believed, that due to the prevailing very high price for potatoes that the crop will yield in return a profit more than in a year when prices are normal.

DR. L.J. WOODWORTH DENTIST

315 Hayes Bldg. Janesville, Wis. Both Phones.

E. B. LOOFBORO D.D.S.

Pylorhea and Oral Prophylaxis (the prevention of mouth diseases) a specialty. 508 Jackson Block. Both Phones.

The Golden Eagle

— Levy's —

The Corset of the Critical

In Corsets as in everything else there is only one best after months of testing and judging we finally selected

Lily of France Corsets

As the quality leaders of our Corset Department. These Corsets interpret correct style with authority and distinction. Our Corset Department offers the Lily of France in all materials ranging at prices from $3.50 upwards. Madame De La Cour personal representative of the Lily of France Corset Company may be consulted at our Corset section tomorrow or any day next week.

Electric SHOE REPAIRING

Prompt work. New, modern equipment. Best of work and materials. Shoes called for and delivered.

F. J. WURMS

11 South Main St.
 Bell 123. R. C. 477 Red.

QUALITY La Marca Cigars

There is real pleasure and a world of satisfaction in smoking the La Marca Cigars.

FOR FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

We offer the La Marca, regular 10c Cigar at 5c STRAIGHT

Boxes of 25 ..... $1.25
 Boxes of 50 ..... 2.50
 Kodaks and Kodak Supplies

Smith's Pharmacy

THE REXALL STORE
 Kodaks and Kodak Supplies.

Rehberg's

See Our Large Advertisement on Page 3

Bradley Sweaters

New colors, stripe effects, all sizes, $4, $5, $6.50, $8, $10

A special model Janesville High School Sweater is shown in our window

RIMBOS WICKSON

MERCHANTS OF FINE CLOTHES
 MAIN STREET AT NUMBER SIXTEEN SOUTH

PRESERVE THIS AD FOR FUTURE REFERENCE

BREAST OF VEAL 788

THE BREAST OF VEAL

consists of two parts, the gristly brisket proper and the rib bones. Separate the two parts by passing the knife from A to B. Carve the ribs by passing the knife from E to F and the brisket from C to D.

If You Feel That a Real Good Meal of Veal Would Appeal—We Have It—Let's Make a Deal.

KRONITZ

MEAT MARKET
 119 East Milwaukee St.

CUDAHY'S CASH MARKET

39 So. Main St.

Saturday, Parachuting Prices, Drop in among the 'Soft Snaps' Quoted In The Prices Below

Native Steer Beef.	Fresh Beef Liver, lb. ....10c
Prime Rib Roast, lb. 16c, 18c	Fresh Beef Hearts, lb. ....11c
Choice Pot Roast, lb. ....12 1/2c, 16c	Fresh or Salt Tongues, lb. ....10 1/2c
Plate Boiling Beef, lb. ....11c	PURE PORK Sausage, Bulk or Links ....16c
Fresh Hamburger Steak, lb. ....14c	Home Made Bologna, lb. 14c
Round or Sirloin Steak, lb. ....22c	Genuine Dilled Pickles, per dozen ....10c
Genuine Dilled Pickles, per dozen ....10c	Small Lean Picnic Hams, lb. ....15 1/2c
Sugar Cured Bacon, by the strip, lb. ....22c

We have plenty of Spring and Yearling Chickens. We deliver to all parts of the city promptly.

Phone, Bell 1187; R. C. 102. M. REUTER, Mgr.

STUPP CASH MARKET SPECIAL

A CUT ON EVERY PIECE OF MEAT IN THE HOUSE

A No. 1 Pot Roast. ....14c	Pig Pork Loins .....17c
A good Pot Roast .....12c	Pig Pork Chops .....19c
Steer Rib Roast .....16c	Little Pig Hams .....14c
Choice Short Steaks .....15c	Lean Pork Steak .....17c
Choice Club Steaks .....15c	Pork Shanks .....11c
Choice Strip Steaks .....15c	Lean Salt Pork .....14 1/2c
Choice Sirloin Steaks .....15c	Fresh Pig Liver .....5c
Choice Round Steaks .....15c	Fresh Beef Liver .....3c
Fresh Made Hamburg Steak at .....12c	Fresh Pig Hearts .....7c
Fresh bulk Sausage .....12c	Milk Fed Veal Roast .....16 1/2c
Fresh Link Sausage .....12c	Milk Fed Veal Chops .....17c
Fresh Flank Steaks .....16c	Milk Fed Veal Stew .....12c
Pure Lard Only .....16c	Choice Mutton Roasts .....15c
Compound Lard .....12 1/2c	Choice Mutton Stew .....9c
Snow Flake Lard .....12 1/2c	Choice Mutton Legs .....17c
Salami Sausage .....20c	Bologna and Liver Sausage at .....12c
Summer Sausage .....17c	Frankforts .....12 1/2c
Brick Cheese .....23c	Cooked Corn Beef .....20c
Limburger, 2-lb. bricks. 45c	Pickled Pig's Feet .....7c
Long Horn Cream .....23c	Rump Corn Beef .....13 1/2c
Luxo Coffee Special .....19c	Rib Corn Beef .....8 1/2c
1 gal. Apples .....30c	Fresh Spareribs .....11c
1 gal. Peaches .....45c	Canned goods, 9c value, each at .....7 1/2c
1 gal. Apricots .....45c	Festive Salmon, 18c value, at .....12c
1 gal. Cherries .....65c	Morton Shaker Salt .....6 1/2c
1 gal. Raspberries .....55c	Karo Syrup, 10c size, only .....7 1/2c
1 gal. Logan Berries .....55c
Year Old Chickens, fresh dressed .....18c
Spring Chickens, fresh dressed, only .....21c
Fresh Bulk Oysters, qt. ....40c
Oleomargarine, Stupp Special, 16c. Oak Grove, 19c. Lincoln Swift's, 17c.

THE HOUSE OF BARGAINS
 210 West Milw. Leave Your Order. Phone 832.

THE GOLDEN EAGLE

LEVY'S

Fall Opening Exhibit Continues Tomorrow

We cordially invite any man or woman who has not attended our opening to do so tomorrow.

Society Brand Clothing

Clothes That Always Look Like New

Faultless in design and unsurpassed in material and workmanship. They are senders in the field of ready to wear clothes and set the standards which others try to follow.

Society Brand Clothes For Young Men and Men Who Stay Young, $20 to $30

Large Display Men's Fall Hats. Stetson, $3.50, $4.00 and $5.00. Imperials, $3.00.

Große in all the new prevailing styles and colors; hat perfections.

Manhattan Shirts

Our stocks include virtually every shade or mixture of colors that men will care to choose from. Soft or laundered cuffs, Percales, Cords, Woven and Printed Madras materials and Silk Shirts. $1.75, $2.25, $3.00 and up to $6.00

Mahogany Brown Boots

New Kid Boots with new colored tops of white, glaze, Ivory, Mahogany and Tan. Beautiful new models just received. $5.00, $6.00, $6.50 and $7.00. New Patents, Dull Calf and Kid Boots. Either lace or button. $3.50, $4.00 and $4.50

Men's Bench Made Shoes, $5 a Pair

Largest and best assortment of men's new smart model footwear for Fall. Lace or button. High grade in every respect; some with colored uppers. $5.00

Men's New Fall Boots, $3, $3.50, $4 and $4.50

Selected leathers, over fifty styles. Goodyear welt. Misses and children's new Fall footwear, stocks complete.

Our Greatest Efforts Were Put Forth This Season in Selecting Merchandise That Would Appeal to the Women of This and Surrounding Communities.

As Janesville's most foremost outfitters to women, it was up to us to maintain the reputation that we had already made in so short a period. We believe that you will be completely inspecting line of Coats, Suits and Dresses heartily agree with us when we say that we have needed all our previous efforts.

While the prices have advanced on most merchandise, we desire to inform the public that the prices on Ready to Wear garments have not materially affected our prices as we have in most every instance held them down in reach of all, and today we are prepared to offer you exceptional values.

The New Fall Suit Styles Are Beautiful

The graceful tailored lines appeal to every woman. The large collar effect of Velvet and Fur make a most striking appearance. No set styles for Jackets this season as they vary from 34-in. to 42-in. long. Prices range from $15.00 to $55.00

WAIST SPECIAL TOMORROW

300 charming new Fall Waists made of the very latest materials in the latest fashion. The Waists would be judged by the most critical buyers as $1.50 sellers; our price $1.00

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

- BY DAISY DEAN -

Victor Potei, alias "Slippery Slim."

"The Three Slims" is to be the title of a new comedy. So far the scenario department of the Mack Sennett plant is unaware of this, but with the three slims on the lot it will not require much imagination to see some sort of a comedy around them.

Victor Potei, or Slippery Slim, is the slimmest of the slims. Slim Summerville is the tallest and Slim St. Clair is the youngest.

For many moons Slim Summerville held undisputed sway of the Keystone slimmess.

Then came the svelt St. Clair, who having only started in pictures did not count much anyway and would not have to be worried about—or so Mr. Summerville thought. Then, too, he was young and the chances for his filling out were good.

But Mr. St. Clair remained thin and also he "copped" a few tricks from the comedians, and after proving that he was willing to take chances with the rest of them and that he could enter a drawing room as an English duke or the bags of an American millionaire in the capacity of a bellhop, he was admitted to cross the bar sinister—viz., from the extra list to stock.

Slim Summerville gave him the "once over" one day and suggested that he should take milk chocolates and eat plenty of starchy foods, but Slim St. Clair looked him in the eye and said:

"Not on your life; I too am being paid for being thin!"

Then there came a black day in Mr. Summerville's young life.

Slim St. Clair was engaged to throw his shadow on the screen.

The first Slim looked him over and said:

"You win; your legs are thinner than mine. It's all off; I'm licked. I might as well go into tragedy or the drama."

But he hasn't yet.

At the same table in a little cafe the other day sat Robin Bottomley, Briton; George Kizzard, Frenchman; Frank Branger, Austrian; Marko Inokuchi, Japanese; Nicholas Cyrus, German; Ivan Margaroff, Russian; Alex Petrovich, Bulgarian; and Harry Harvey, American. Bring on the bombs, Alphonse!

Says Cleo Madison's weeping press agent: "Miss Madison has a warm spot in her heart for everything that lives. No dead ones for Cleo."

DESIGNATES OCT. 9 AS FIRE PREVENTION DAY IN WISCONSIN

Governor Philipp in Proclamation Sets Aside Anniversary of Chicago Fire for Observance.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Madsion, Wis., Sept. 22.—Governor Philipp in a proclamation has set aside October 9, the anniversary of the Chicago fire, as fire prevention day for Wisconsin. The proclamation reads as follows:

"I desire to call public attention to a form of destruction and waste that is taking place in this state and which should be prevented as far as possible, not only in the interests of those who lose their property but in the interest of the general public as well.

"Statistics from the state fire marshal's department show that the average monthly loss in this state from fire is approximately $400,000. In addition, there is a large toll of human life taken annually by the same cause. Such losses constitute an irreparable drain upon our resources. No doubt human life can be saved and the losses in money greatly reduced if greater precaution is taken to prevent fires.

"For the reasons set forth and for the purpose of arousing our people to a sense of the dangers of fire and to induce them to take a more active interest in fire prevention, I hereby proclaim that Monday, the ninth day of October, 1916, the anniversary of the great Chicago fire, known as State Fire Prevention Day. And I earnestly recommend that all people observe the same by a general cleaning up and removal of rubbish, trash, and waste from their premises.

"The electric wiring, heating apparatus and chimneys be carefully inspected and placed in proper condition for winter use.

"That all public and private institutions, hotels, asylums, factories and theatres be carefully examined on that day and wherever necessary, that proper changes and corrections be made to further protect the safety of the occupants and the value of the property.

"That all local authorities give attention to the matter of better building regulations, stricter adherence to the building code, fire protection and fire prevention, as well as added apparatus for fire fighting.

"That the press, by timely publications pertaining to fire prevention and protection, arouse the public to a general cleaning up and encourage civic and other public gatherings on the subject of fire waste of the state and the means for its prevention.

"And that, lastly, fire drills be held on that day in institutions, factories, in public, parochial and private schools, and I earnestly recommend that teachers instruct their pupils, through short talks and proper programs, on the dangers of fire and the methods of fire prevention."

—EMANUEL L. PHILIPP,

Governor.

RUMANIAN QUEEN IS ENGLISH WOMAN

All England Rejoices as Result of New Aid to Allies—Daughter of Edward's Brother.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Sept. 22.—One of the many reasons for rejoicing here at the entrance of Rumania into the war on the side of the Allies is the fact that the Rumanian queen is an Englishwoman of great popularity. Before her marriage to the Hohenzollern prince who is now King Ferdinand, Queen Marie was the beautiful and popular daughter of the late King Edward's eldest brother, the late Duke of Edinburgh. She is still regarded as beautiful and indeed with her brother and two boys and four girls is frequently spoken of as constituting the best looking royal family in Europe, as well as the most photographed.

Queen Marie is beloved throughout her country for her generosity and constant efforts in behalf of the poor. She is the leading spirit of the Society of Goddesses of Rumania and goddess acting as a fairy godmother to at least one poor child. The queen has an odd hobby in the collection of scent-bottles, of which she has more than 8,000.

When aboard her father's flagship at Maki Rumania's future queen became a great favorite with officers and sailors. She had a great love of helping the ship's cook with his duties. On one occasion she tried frittatas and slices of ham and had them distributed among the men as a token of goodwill.

A good way to advertise—use Gazette want ads.

Pearl and Steisel rank as artists of the very highest class. The acquisition of this trio has done much to further raise Mr. O'Hara's performance far above the average Irish play.

ABE MARTIN

Lafe Bud has opened a garage for vacuum cleaners. Nobuddy ever says anything about a eight-hour day for President Wilson.

WHEN THE BANKERS MEET "UNCLE BILLY" WILL BE THERE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 22.—When the bankers of the nation get together for their annual convention four days hence "Uncle Billy" William of Atlanta, who owns 154 little country banks down south, and gets lots of fun and some money out of running them, will be here.

"Sorry I can't bring all the boys this time," Uncle Billy told a member of the American Bankers' association, referring to the 154 managers of his 154 banks, "but you see we all just had a sort of outing and convention ago, so I'll have to leave 'em to tend to business for awhile, I guess. You see, a convention is just like Barnum's circus with us; once every six or seven years is often enough to indulge in either one."

"Uncle Billy's" banks are scattered through Georgia and Florida. He said the motto for all of them is "safety first and success."

The American Bankers' association convention will meet here from Sept. 25 to 29, inclusive.

BEVERLY

SPECIAL FOR TODAY WILLIAM BRADY Offers

House Peters in "The Rail Rider"

5 Acts. A Beautiful Story True to Life.

Extra Comedy Feature Today

SPECIAL FOR SATURDAY

Double Triangle Program (Special Bookings)

DE WOLF HOPPER in

"Casey At The Bat"

A Picturization of That Famous Poem. Extra Keystone Comedy Saturday.

MATINEE DAILY AT 2:30.

New Myers

Jos. M. Bransky Lessee & Mgr.

Seats now on Sale

at the box office, for

Formal Opening

Presenting

Fisk O'Hara

SUNDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 24.

Seats from 25c to $1.50.

Apollo

Matinee daily at 2:30. Evening 7:30 and 9:00.

5 ACTS OF VAUDEVILLE

TONIGHT, SATURDAY AND SUNDAY.

FOGARTY'S

20th Century dancing revue 6—PEOPLE—6

DON TAYLOR

Ventriloquist.

ELLOWARD & KENYON

High class singing act.

LAMOND & WRIGHT

Musical entertainers.

TIM & MARIAN

Singing and Talking.

Photoplays

Changed every day.

Matinee daily, 10c.

Night, 10c and 20c.

MAJESTIC

Last Times TONIGHT 7:20 and 9:00.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST DRAMATIC ARTISTE

Mme. Petrova

IN HER LATEST METRO SUCCESS.

The Scarlet Woman

"SHOW KIS NI"

This is a beautiful picture and made a tremendous hit yesterday.

NEW MYERS

7 NIGHTS, COMMENCING MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 25

THE WINNINGER PLAYERS

The Leader of Them All PRODUCING ONLY

The Best Royalty Plays

Correctly Costumed

Intelligently produced

A carload of special Scenery

Opening Play

The New York Court Theatre Success

UNDER COVER

by Roi Cooper Megrue

Prices: 10c, 20c, 30c and 50c.

Seats now on sale.

Why Did Casey Strike Out

You've read of the mighty battle between Mudville and Frogtown for baseball supremacy, of the terrible struggle to win the cherished pennant, and you know that the mighty Casey struck out at the critical moment; but did you ever know why he struck out?

De Wolf Hopper

who takes the part of the mighty Casey in the TRIANGLE PLAY, "Casey at the Bat," tells the story. This picture, which follows closely the immortal poem, is one of the best comedy-dramas ever presented on the screen.

ONE DAY ONLY TOMORROW-Saturday BEVERLY THEATRE

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—You Can't Always Leave Angeline Out of Your Calculations

"See How That Corn Comes Clear Off!"

"GETS-IT" Loosens Your Corns Right Off. It's the Modern Corn Wonder—Never Fails

It is hard to believe anything could act so fast on a corn. Why, I just took a corn off with my thumb nail. "GETS-IT" is a wonderful corn remover. It is the most wonderful corn remover I have ever used. It is so simple to use, because you don't need to feel and pain around with your corns. Simply dip in with bandages, or try to cut them out. "GETS-IT" is a simple, but powerful, corn remover. It does not hurt, but your corns will clear off right off. It is the most wonderful corn remover I have ever used. It is so simple to use, because you don't Explaining Catastrophe. A five-year-old boy was joyously driving his pet dog hitched to a small wagon one afternoon last week. A woman passing said, "That is a fine horse and wagon you have." "It's a train and a engine," replied the child. Returning two hours later the woman saw the boy sitting on the sidewalk beside the broken wagon. "Oh, what has happened?" said she sympathetically. "The engine saw a cat," replied the boy.

"It's Just Wonderful, the Way 'GETS-IT' Works! All Corns Go Quick."

Safe Home Remedy for Skin-Troubles

Eczema, ringworm, and other itching, burning skin eruptions are so easily made worse by improper treatment that one has to be very careful. There is one method, however, that you need never hesitate to try, even on a baby's tender skin—that is the Resinol treatment. Resinol is the prescription of a Baltimore doctor, put up in the form of resinol ointment and resinol soap. This proved so remarkably successful that thousands of other physicians have prescribed it constantly for over twenty years.

Generally Resinol stops itching at once, and heals the eruption quickly and at little cost. Resinol ointment and Resinol soap can be bought at any drugstore.

If Too Fat Get More Fresh Air

BE MODERATE IN YOUR DIET AND REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT. TAKE OIL OF KOREIN.

Lack of fresh air is said to weaken the oxygen carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many of the vital organs are hindered thereby. The liver action becomes weak, work is inefficient and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

Put out on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing off a serious case of obesity may result.

When you feel that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once. Don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat.

The Lone Star Ranger

A Romance of the Border by ZANE GREY

Author of "THE LIGHT OF WESTERN STARS" "RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE," ETC.

Copyright by Harper and Brothers

"He chose the right side, because the river lay nearer that way and put his horse to his best efforts, straight ahead. He had to pass those men. When this was done, he was in a position to see a deep wash from which he had to turn. Duane began to feel cold and sick. Almost he lost his bearings, and finally would have ridden toward his enemies had it not been for the fact that he was in the matter of an open burned-over stretch of ground.

Here he saw both groups of pursuers, one on each side and almost within gunshot. Their sharp yells, as much as his cruel spurs, drove his horse into that place which now meant life or death for him. And never had Duane bestrode a gamier, swifter, stancher beast. He seemed about to accomplish the impossible. In the struggling sand he was far superior to any horse in pursuit, and on this spurs open stretch he gained enough to spare a little in the bush beyond. Heated now and thoroughly terrorized, he kept the pace through thickets that almost tore Duane from his saddle. Something weighty and grim came out in front. The horse had speed, fire, stamina.

A race began then, a dusty, crushing drive through gray mesquite. Duane could scarcely see, he was so blinded by stinging branches across his eyes. The hollow wind roared in his ears. He lost his sense of the nearness of his pursuers. But they must have been close. Did they shoot at him? He imagined he heard shots. But that might have been the cracking of dead snags. His left arm hung limp, almost useless; he handled the reins with his right; and most of the time he hung low over the pommel.

Suddenly he burst out of a line of mesquite into the road. A long stretch of lonely road! How a dervish, with hot, strident joy, he wheeled his horse upon it! Then he was sweeping along, sure now that he was out in front. His horse still had strength and speed, but showed signs of breaking. Presently Duane looked back. Pursuers—he could not count how many—were loping along in his rear. He pulled no more attention to them, and with teeth set he faced ahead, grimmer now in his determination to follow them.

Sight of the village ahead surprised Duane. He reached it sooner than he expected. Then he made a discovery—he had entered the zone of wire fences. As he rode the turn of wire now, he kept on, intending to ride through the village. Looking backward, he saw that his pursuers were half a mile distant, too far to alarm any villagers in time to intercept him in his flight. As he rode by the first houses his horse broke and began to labor. Duane did not believe he would last long enough to go through the village.

Saddled horses in front of a store gave Duane an idea, not by any means new, and one he had carried out successfully before. As he pulled in his heavy mount and leaped off, a couple of ranchers came out of the place, and one of them stepped to a clean-lined, fiery bay. He was about to get into his saddle when he saw Duane, and then he halted, a foot in the stirrup. Duane strode forward, grasped the bridle of this man's horse.

"Mine's done—but not killed," he panted. "Trade with me."

"Well, stranger, I'm shore always ready to trade," drawled the man. "But ain't you a little swift?"

Duane glanced back at the road. His pursuers were entering the village. "I'm Duane—Buck Duane," he cried, monotonously. "Will you trade? Hurry!" The rancher, turned white, dropped his foot from the stirrup and fell back. "I reckon I'll trade," he said. Bounding up, Duane dug spurs into the bay's flanks. The horse snorted at that village or else led out from some other quarter, for he had ridden straight into the fields and from them into rough desert. When he reached the cover of mesquite once more he looked back to find six horsemen within rifle shot of him, and more coming behind them.

His new horse had not had time to get warm before Duane reached a high sandy bluff below which lay the willow brakes. As far as he could see extended an immense flat strip of red-tinged willow. How welcome it was to his eye! He felt like a hunted wolf that, weary and lame, had reached his hole in the rocks. Zigzagging down the soft slope, he put the bay to the dense wall of leaf and branch. But the horse balked.

There was little time to lose. Dismounting he dragged the stubborn beast into the thicket. This was harder and slower work than Duane cared to risk. If he had not been successful, he might have had better success. So he had to abandon the horse—a circumstance that only such sore straits could have driven him to. Then he went slipping swiftly through the narrow aisles.

He had not got under cover any too soon. For he heard his pursuers piling over the bluff, loud-voiced, confident, brutal. They crashed into the willows.

"Hi, Sid! Heah's your hoss!" called one. "Ain't that the man Duane had forced into a loaded gent?"

"A little I'll tell you something," replied a voice from the bluff.

"Come on, Sid! We've got him cornered," said the first speaker.

"Wal, mobbe, an' if you hev it's liable to be damn hot. They feller was Buck Duane!"

Absolute silence followed that statement. Presently it was broken by a rattling of loose gravel and then low voices.

"He can't git across the river, I tell you," came to Duane's ears. "He's cornered in the brake. I know that hole."

Then Duane, gliding silently and swiftly through the willows, heard no more from his pursuers. He headed straight for the river. Threading a passage through a willow brake was an old task for him. Many days and nights had gone to the acquiring of a skill that might have been envied by an Indian.

The Rio Grande and its tributaries for the most of their length in Texas ran between wide, low, flat lands covered by a dense growth of willow. Cottonwood, mesquite, prickly pear, and other growths mingled with the willow, and altogether they made a matted, tangled copse, a thicket that an inexperienced man would have considered impenetrable.

The depths of this brake Duane had penetrated was a silent, dreamy, strange place. In the middle of the day the light was weird and dim.

Lifted Enough Water to Quench His Thirst.

When a breeze fluttered the foliage, then slender shafts and spears of sunshine pierced the green mantle and danced like gold on the ground.

Duane had always felt the strangeness of this kind of place, and likewise he had felt a protecting, harboring something which always seemed to him to be the sympathy of the brake for a hunted creature. Any unwounded creature, strong and resourceful, was safe when he had glided under the low, rustling green roof of this wild covert.

If that was possible, and, keeping in the brake, work his way upstream till he had reached country more hospitable. He pushed on. His left arm had to be fished, as he could scarcely move it. Using his right to spread the willows, he slipped sideways between them and made fast ways. Finally after a toilsome penetration of still denser bribe he broke through to the bank of the river.

He faced a wide, shallow, muddy stream with brakes on the opposite bank extending like a green and yellow wall. Duane perceived at a glance the futility of his trying to cross at this point. Everywhere the sluggish water laved quicksand bars. Before leaving the bank he tied his hat upon a pole and lifted enough water to quench his thirst. Then he worked his way back to where thinner growth made advancement easier, and kept on upstream till the shadows were so deep he could not see. Feeling around for a place big enough to stretch out on, he lay down. For the time being he was safe there as he would have been beyond in the Rim Rock. He was tired, though not exhausted, and in spite of the throbbing pain in his arm he dropped at once into sleep.

CHAPTER XIII.

How long Duane was traveling out of that region he never knew. But he reached familiar country and found a rancher who had before befriended him. Here his sleep was attended to; he had food and arm; and in a couple of weeks he was himself again.

When the time came for Duane to ride away on his endless trail his friend reluctantly imparted the information that some thirty miles south, near the village of Shirley, there was posted at a certain cross-road a reward for Buck Duane dead or alive.

Duane had heard of such notices. But he had never seen one. His friend's reluctance and refusal to state for what particular deed this reward was offered roused Duane's curiosity. Apparently he decided to ride over there and find out who wanted him dead or alive, and why.

Toward afternoon, from the top of a long hill, Duane saw the green fields and trees and shining roofs of a town he considered must be Shirley. And at the bottom of the hill he came upon an intersecting road. There was a placard nailed on the cross-road signpost. Duane drew rein near it and leaned close to read the faded print.

"$1,000 REWARD FOR BUCK DUANE DEAD OR ALIVE." Peering closer to read the finer, more faded print, Duane learned that he was wanted for the murder of Mrs. Jeff Aiken at her ranch near Shirley. The month September was named, but the date was illegible. The reward was offered by the woman's husband, whose name appeared with that of a sheriff's at the bottom of the placard.

Duane read the thing twice. When he straightened he was sick with the horror of his fate, wild with passion at those misguided fools who could believe that he had harmed a woman.

A dark, passionate man change their expression, their attitude so swiftly. His advent apparently was momentous. They evidently took him for an unusual visitor. So far as Duane could tell, not one of them recognized him, had a hint of his identity.

He slid off his horse and threw the bridle. "I'm Buck Duane," he said. "I saw that placard—out there on a sign-post. It's a damn lie! Somebody had to see him." His announcement was taken in absolute silence. That was the only effect he noted, for he avoided looking at these villagers. The reason was simple enough; Duane felt himself overcome with emotion. There were tears in his eyes. He sat down on a bench, put his elbows on his knees and his hands to his face. For once he had absolutely no concern for his fate. This ignominy was the last straw.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

When the Case Is Urgent. Abritration is usually most needed when somebody declares that there is nothing to arbitrate. — Washington Star.

PORCELAIN FACTORY RECOVERS OLD RELIC

Rare Figure of Mme. Pompadour, Founder of Works, Only One in Existence Found at Last. (BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Paris, Sept. 22.—The national porcelain factory at Sevres has just recovered a dainty statuette which prizes more than any of the famous works of the establishment, for it is the original figure of Madame de Pompadour which the Sevres factory made and presented to her over 250 years ago in gratitude for her founding the institution.

Mme. de Pompadour's name is chiefly linked with the gay life of Louis XV. But the famous beauty of the eighteenth century, who was not only a mistress of the king but also exercised much influence in the serious affairs of state. On one of the most notable of these works was the creation of the Sevres porcelain factory, which is a national institution, which is an output of fine ceramics famous the world over. It was Mme. de Pompadour who was the first patron of the institution, and to this day "Pompadour" designates some of the most delicate pieces of old Sevres ware.

"And that is why," said M. Bourgeois, administrator of Sevres, "that we prize so highly this statuette of Mme. de Pompadour which has been recovered after being lost these many years." The administrator pointed out the statuette which was carefully guarded in a glass case. It showed the famous beauty of Louis XV. garbed as a shepherdess and leaning against an urn in the gardens of Versailles. Very thoughtfully another statuette of Louis XV. had been placed alongside the recovered relic, so that just as in the old days of reality at Sevres Louis and Pompadour were here united again in the same place. This statuette was specially modeled as a gift. M. Bourgeois explained, "the molds were destroyed after a few copies had been made. As a rule scores of examples of work are made, and it is comparatively easy to obtain one of the originals, as to make another copy from the molds which are preserved. But as this was a special gift to the founder of our institution, it went only to her and all other traces of the work were lost or destroyed. We had long known of the existence of the statue and had longed to recover it. A historic work marking the foundation of Sevres. It was only by chance that we got track of it lately, and it was brought back as the most precious relic of the institution which made it as a gift to its founder."

Dinner Stories

She was one of those little women who are always looking for something that will take up their husbands' idle time.

"John," she said, "I wish you would mend the front door lock."

"C-can't," replied John, quaking like an aspen leaf; "I've g-got t-the sh-shaking ague."

"Oh, well, then, I know the very thing; you can sift the ashes."

One of the methods of communicating from one office to another in the trenches of the present great war is to throw the messages to one of the privates and tell him to "pass the word along." The line until he reaches his destination, viz, the officer at the other end. The following story will show how a serious message can be distorted on its journey from mouth to mouth:

Lieutenant A, in charge of one end of the British line, told the private in front to "pass the word along" to Lieutenant B: "We are going to advance," can you lend us re-enforcements?" When Lieutenant B received the

TO LIVE LONG!

A recipe given by a famous physician for long life was: "Keep the kidneys in good order! Try to eliminate thru the skin and intestines the poisons that otherwise clog the kidneys. Avoid eating meat as much as possible; avoid too much salt, alcohol, tea. Try a milk and vegetable diet. Drink plenty of water, and exercise so you sweat—the skin helps to eliminate the toxic poisons and uric acid." For those past middle life, for those easily recognized symptoms of inflammation, as backache, swelling "water," or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, "rusty" joints, stiffness, get "Anuric" at the drug store. This is a wonderful eliminator of uric acid and has been discovered by Dr. Pierce of Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. If your druggist does not keep it send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce for trial package and you will know that it is thirty-seven times more potent than lithia and that it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.—Advertisement.

message it was like this: "We are going to a dance; can you lend us three and fourpence?"

The evangelist was entreating his hearers to flee from the wrath to come. "I warn you," he said, "there will be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth." At this point an old lady in the gallery stood up.

"Sir," she interrupted, "I have no teeth."

"Madam," said the evangelist sternly, "teeth will be provided."

HIDDEN PUZZLE

BUTTERFLIES. Find another dancer. REBUS.

A household necessity.

the hands that make them

HAND work commands respect in every field of endeavor—hand work is careful, painstaking, precise work—hand work is used more largely in our made to measure clothes than in any clothes you can buy.

Hand tailoring makes style permanent and enduring—it isn't nearly as fast nor as cheap as machine work, but it's so much better that there's really no comparison between the two.

The Continental Tailors of Chicago hand tailors our made to measure clothes. F. J. WURMS, The Tailor 11 South Main St. Both Phones. Clothes Cleaned, pressed and repaired. Goods called for and delivered.

